

year. Ouro Verde (heavy equipment) generated revenues of approximately US$136.0 million in 2022, registering an increase of 47.3% compared to the previous year.

And while Ouro Verde grew two positions, SK Rental Group fell the same number of positions to seventh place. The Chilean company had revenues of US$116.0 million, showing growth of 10.5% versus 2021. APR Energy also fell two positions and came in eighth place, with revenues of US$108 million.

Two other Brazilian companies round out the Top 10, Casa do Construtor and Locar Guindastes e Transportes Intermodales, both with revenues of US$105.0 million and growth of 11.8% and 23.5%, respectively..

Investments made in 2022 reached US$1,246 million, a record for Latin America Rental 45. And reaffirming the strength of the Brazilian market, it is worth highlighting that almost 80% of this value is explained by the acquisition and renewal of fleets from companies from the South American giant.

In fact, four of the five main investors correspond to Brazil and are effectively its leaders. Grupo Vamos invested no less than US$303 million during 2022, just under a quarter of
